The Université de Montréal and its two affiliated schools, HEC Montréal and École Polytechnique, form Canada’s second largest university complex.

The Université de Montréal is second in Canada’s Top 50 Research Universities List 2006, situating it at the forefront of Québec universities in the field of research.

The Université de Montréal is the only North American Francophone university rated among the world’s top 200 universities according to the two most recognized international rankings, The Times Higher Education Supplement and Shanghai Jiao Tong University’s Academic Ranking of World Universities.
Rector’s Message

THE UNIVERSITÉ DE MONTRÉAL FIRST OPENED ITS DOORS IN 1878 TO FEWER THAN A HUNDRED STUDENTS. THIS YEAR, IT WELCOMED MORE THAN 55,000. IN QUÉBEC, CLOSE TO ONE OUT OF FOUR STUDENTS ATTENDS OUR INSTITUTION AND ITS AFFILIATED SCHOOLS, AND EVERY YEAR 10,000 OF THEM EARN A DEGREE. THIS INDICATES THE RESPONSIBILITY WE HAVE IN TERMS OF TRAINING, GUIDANCE AND EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE.

This responsibility is one that the Université de Montréal assumes in every aspect of its educational mission, by keeping its sights on the same objective: to ready its students to become forces of change. Our University, which this year updated its internationalization strategy, makes every effort to remain attuned to the broader issues that are of concern to our society, and to put an international stamp on its programs. This is in keeping with the quality of education that we offer our students and the manner in which our graduates are claiming their place in today’s globalization.

The Université de Montréal is a great research university. In five of the last six years, it ranked second in Canada for total research income. The allocation of these funds mostly relies upon peer evaluation, which is in itself a measure of excellence and the most reliable indication of the quality of our professors’ projects. Such acknowledgement also testifies to the major role played by our institution in the scientific development of our country and the education of future researchers.
It is a well known fact that Québec universities are going through difficult times on the budgetary front, and the Université de Montréal is no exception. The last fiscal year resulted in a deficit of $35 million in the operating budget, which had the effect of doubling our accumulated deficit. This situation is of great concern and casts a shadow on an extremely positive situation in all other sectors of our activities. This is why I am actively working to sensitize the Québec population and its representatives to the effects of the underfinancing of our universities.

These difficulties must not prevent us from planning ahead and ensuring the University's ongoing development. One of the keys to this development is conditional on the expansion of our campus - an expansion all the more motivated by the marked upswing in our student population and the explosion of our research activities. Last year's acquisition of Canadian Pacific Railway's Outremont train yard is the first step in a program that aims to redeploy our teaching and research activities. This exhilarating project will mobilize members of the university community, citizens of the adjoining neighbourhoods and representatives of civic organizations alike. This ambitious undertaking, which will change the face of the University, represents a unique opportunity to rethink the layout of our facilities in line with the new knowledge paradigms of the 21st century.

This report takes a novel look at the highlights of 2005-06. We decided to present an overview of our achievements through a sampling of the coverage they received in the media. Every day, our students and professors attract the attention of newspapers and electronic media. Their achievements are the pride of our community. Our great hope is that they are also the pride of our whole society, inasmuch as real accomplishments are those that are shared.

On reading this report, you will note that the Université de Montréal is present in our society and that it extends its reach abroad. Presence and reach: these two words epitomize the nature of the contribution that the Université de Montréal brings to our community.

FACTS AND FIGURES

⇒ In Québec, 22 out of 100 students attend the UdeM and its affiliated schools.
⇒ Since 2000, our student enrolment has grown by 20.2%, compared to an average 13.3% increase across Québec.
⇒ 70% of our students are enrolled full-time and 80% in capped-enrolment undergraduate programs.
⇒ UdeM is the institution with the highest proportion of students in graduate studies in Canada. Since 2000, this percentage has risen from 23.7% to 27%, a clear indication of the growing power of attraction of our research centres and groups.
⇒ UdeM and its affiliated schools welcomed 5,814 international students in 2006, representing close to 23% of all foreign nationals studying in Québec, and 1,180 students from other Canadian provinces.
⇒ Last year, our students received $42.3 million in scholarships, $11 million of which came from UdeM.
⇒ Of the approximately 2,000 students subsidized by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, 111 were enrolled at the UdeM. That’s more than one SSHRC scholarship holder out of twenty!

FACTS AND FIGURES

Since it was founded in 1878, UdeM has graduated more than 250,000 students, making a unique contribution to Québec expertise in every field of knowledge.

According to the latest findings of the Consortium for Student Retention Data Exchange, UdeM boasts a 71% graduation rate at the undergraduate level compared to a Canadian average of 57%.

In Québec, the annual salary gap between a university graduate and a CEGEP graduate is $15,900. With more than 10,000 graduates a year, UdeM significantly contributes to the enrichment of the Québec community.

Our alumni are forces of change. Among the best known are Louise Arbour, Denys Arcand, Robert Bourassa, André Caillé, Natalie Choquette, Jean Coutu, Paul Gérin-Lajoie, Steven Guilbeault, Michaëlle Jean, Father “Pops” John, Bernard Landry, Fabienne Larouche, Jacques Parizeau, Hubert Reeves and Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

THE GAZETTE

Last week, Shirin Ebadi spoke on Islam, women’s rights and the West at the UdeM.

This year, the UdeM broke new ground by naming October “Alumni Month.” Several dozen activities were held, including a lunch with humour on the menu, a conference by professor Pietro Boglioni on the Da Vinci Code and the conference by Nobel Peace Prize laureate Shirin Ebadi. They were opened to alumni and the general public. These activities drew more than 5,000 participants.

“For a first-time event, it was an excellent start and a success above and beyond our expectations,” stated Vice-Rector – Development and Alumni Relations, Guy Berthiaume, who was very pleased with the collaborative efforts of the faculties and the alumni response.

THE GAZETTE

Louis-Philippe Amiot founded Orthosoft in 1995 while studying medicine at the UdeM. The computer technology he developed gives surgeons real-time 3D imaging so the hip or knee implant can be placed more accurately.

LA PRESSE

Louis-Philippe Forest, a UdeM graduate in architecture, launched Fondation Bonsai, a non-profit organization with a mission to improve the physical and mental health of seniors by means of design and various therapies.

LE NOUVELLISTE

Singer Marianne Lambert from Trois-Rivières (Music, 2006) has been selected to represent Canada in France’s Concours international de chant de Marmande.

24 HEURES

Québec Minister of Health and Social Services Philippe Couillard was honored by the Faculty of Medicine, which awarded him the Medicine, Culture and Society Prize, granted every year to an alumnus who has distinguished him or herself through outreach and influence in society.

L’ACTUALITÉ

Francis Cayouette, a graduate in environmental design, is the only Quebecer whose name has been credited for IKEA product designs.

FACTS AND FIGURES

➔ Since 2000, UdeM has hired 541 professors, a 15.6% increase in the teaching staff.
➔ UdeM has a total of 203 research chairs. Since June 2005, 43 Canada Research Chairs have been inaugurated, bringing to 114 the total number of chairholders on campus.
➔ 9 of the 20 ACFAS (Association francophone pour le savoir) prizes awarded this year went to researchers and students at the UdeM.
➔ 120 professors at UdeM and its affiliated schools are members of the Royal Society of Canada, the national academy that recognizes exceptional accomplishments in the arts, humanities and sciences.

GLOBE & MAIL
Late last year, Damien D’Amours left Boston to return to Canada and become the Canada Research Chair in Cell Cycle Regulation and Genomic Integrity, based at the UdeM.

LES AFFAIRES
UdeM professor Sam Fanous is considered to be one of the Canadian experts in the new multifunctional intraocular lenses.

L’ACTUALITÉ
Physicist Paul Charbonneau could have had a career at the prestigious National Center for Atmospheric Research in Colorado, where he worked until 2002, but when the UdeM offered this sun specialist a Canada Research Chair in Solar Astrophysics, he couldn’t resist coming back home.

LA PRESSE
“We are all born to make music,” explains Isabelle Peretz, professor in the Department of Psychology at the UdeM, who co-directs BRAMS, the largest research centre on the links between the brain and music.

AFFAIRES UNIVERSITAIRES
A professor in the School of Speech Therapy and Audiology at the UdeM, Tony Leroux, has set up the first reference website on noise in Québec.

LA PRESSE
Personality of the week: Louise Samson, first radiologist, first woman and first alumna of the UdeM to become President of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

FACTS AND FIGURES

- The UdeM is Canada's most comprehensive and diversified institution of higher learning.
- Our curriculum includes 273 undergraduate programs and close to 400 master’s and doctoral.
- UdeM is the only Canadian university that covers all the health science disciplines. It is home to the only Francophone faculty of veterinary medicine in the country, and its hospital centre, CHUM, is the largest medical training centre in Québec.
- UdeM trains 34% of Québec doctors, more than half the pharmacists and dentists, 60% of the undergraduate nursing staff as well as 100% of optometrists, audiologists and veterinarians.
- UdeM is the only Québec university with a faculty of continuing education.
- Affiliated with UdeM and located on its campus, École Polytechnique and HEC Montréal are considered the two greatest Francophone professional schools in Canada. The former is a leader in the field of engineering and the latter dispenses an education at the cutting edge of management teaching and research.

FACTS AND FIGURES

- The research income of UdeM and its affiliated schools rose to $447 million dollars in 2005-2006, a 64% increase since 2000.
- UdeM is ranked first in terms of research funding from the three Québec research councils. In 2005-06, it received $43.8 million in provincial funding from Québec, that is, 35% of all research grants awarded by the Fonds de la recherche en santé du Québec, the Fonds québécois de la recherche sur la société et la culture and the Fonds québécois de la recherche sur la nature et les technologies.
- Last year the three federal research councils awarded UdeM and its affiliated schools research grants totalling $129.5 million. With 6.9% of the global grant envelope from the federal government, UdeM ranks first among Québec universities funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada and the Canadian Institutes of Health Research.
- Last year, UdeM researchers signed 13 licenses and license options. They also filed 75 invention disclosures and 77 patent applications, two of which were granted patents.

24 HEURES
The Experimental Astrophysics Laboratory at UdeM recently took part in the design of the new infrared camera put into operation on the Canada-France-Hawaii telescope. The only one of its kind in the world, this new camera can probe the sky 35 times more efficiently, making it possible to capture spectacular images.

RADIO-CANADA
An initial study on the integration of immigrants in the Québec workplace conducted by UdeM sociologist J an Renaud, of the UdeM, revealed that one year after their arrival, half of these workers obtained employment corresponding to their qualifications.

FORBES
Research by Dr. Laurent Mottron, from the UdeM, and colleagues found that autistic subjects performed much better on a different test called Raven’s Progressive Matrices, with some mute autistics performing exceptionally well.

BC

10/01

A giant step in the battle against AIDS has just been taken by Professor Rafick-Pierre Sékaly of the UdeM Hospital Centre (CHUM). He discovered how the virus eludes T lymphocytes, the killer cells that act as guardian angels in our immune system.

L’ACTUALITÉ MEDICALE
In the latest competition of the Canada Foundation for Innovation (CFI), the UdeM university complex received 12% of all the funds awarded in Canada, and ranks an easy first in Québec with more than half of the Province’s funding. In addition, all CFI-approved projects receive a matching grant from the Québec government and are further financially supported by partners from the private sector.

LES AFFAIRES
Over all, close to $100 million will be used to equip the state-of-the-art laboratories of the following research units:
- The Centre for Advanced Research in Sleep Medicine
- The International Laboratory for Brain, Music and Sound Research (BRAMS)
- The Canadian University Biodesign Consortium
- The Art&D Laboratory
- The Beaulieu-Saucier Pharmacogenomics Centre
- The UdeM clinical research network
- The Institute of Research in Immunology and Cancer (IRIC)
- Creation of microsystems and nanomaterials for biomedical applications.

FACTS AND FIGURES

- The Office of Development and Alumni Relations had a record year, with gifts totalling $26.9 million.
- Since 2002, the UdeM Endowment Fund has risen 66% to reach a new high of $119.7 million.
- During the past academic year, 9,157 individuals, foundations and corporations made donations to the UdeM.
- Our alumni made an exceptionally generous contribution to the University’s development, amounting to $6.6 million.
- In 2005-06, our students benefited from philanthropic scholarships totalling $2.2 million.
Charity begins at… one’s alma mater! The members of our community have a long history of giving to the Université de Montréal, and in the last few years more and more of them have chosen the path of planned donations. What is a planned donation? It is the type of gift that allows the donor to optimize an immediate donation thanks to financial, fiscal or estate planning, or to postpone the payment of a contribution depending on his personal or family situation.

The planned donation can take many forms: a bequest, a life insurance policy donation, securities, a charitable gift annuity, etc. Over the past year, several UdeM professors and University officials opted for this philanthropic formula. Marcel Boyer donated $500,000 to the Department of Economics Endowment Fund. Dr. Serge Carrière, former dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and his wife Irène Lafond endowed the Dean’s Fund of this faculty with $500,000. Music professor Luc Beaudet contributed a sum of $100,000 to the Faculty of Music Student Grants Fund. Together, School of Optometry Director Jacques Gresset and Vice-Provost and Vice-Rector – Planning Pierre Simonet made a commitment, along with their spouses Nicole Fradet-Gresset and Marie Lamarre, to a life insurance policy donation totaling $300,000 to be paid into a scholarship fund for master’s and doctoral students in optometry.

Dictionaries tell us that the French word “merci” comes from a Latin word for “salary, compensation”. The centuries have stripped it of its monetary meaning and given it the noble sense we are now familiar with. From a term that originally referred to a donor’s gesture, the centuries have made it the expression of gratitude from the donee. There is a lesson to be learned from this semantic evolution: what we give always ends up being appreciated for its true value.

The launch of the Jean-Louis Baudouin Chair in Civil Law is an extremely important event in my professional life. In one sense, it is the crowning achievement of my career as a teacher, researcher and writer. It is also a way for me to thank the Faculty of Law, which has brought me so much, and to pass the baton to young civil law researchers, like the very first chairholder, Benoît Moore.

In the Middle Ages, books of hours were as much a reflection of their owners’ vanity and a mirror of their devotion. I am very pleased to give the UdeM Rare Books and Special Collections Division the facsimile of these works that I have assembled throughout my career as a professor.
